

Symposium on Earthquake Studies

04 - 05 December, 2019

Organized by: Centre for Earthquake Studies,
National Centre for Physics, Islamabad

Introduction

Centre for Earthquake Studies is organizing a two-day symposium on contemporary topics and recent trends in earthquake studies on 04 - 05 December, 2019. This symposium will cover lectures on latest advancements in the field of seismology and allied disciplines especially earthquake forecasting. The event will provide an excellent opportunity to early career researchers and students to learn from experts of earth sciences. Furthermore, it will enhance collaboration among national institutes/universities and awareness on earthquake related research in Pakistan.

Topics

- Earthquake Seismology
- Physics & Mechanics of Earthquakes
- Geophysical Precursors of Earthquakes
- Disaster Management/Mitigation

Format

The symposium includes contributed talks of ~30 minutes. A thought-provoking discussion among the panel of experts will be held with a futuristic objective.

Participation

Active graduate & post graduate students, post-doctoral researchers, faculty and research scientists, who have published research work in recognized international journals during the last three years, are encouraged to participate. Accommodation will be provided to outstations participants only. Meals including tea will be served to the participants. There is no cost for housing and meals.

Travel Grant

Partial travel grant will be provided to limited local participants.
